BANGALORE: Drive home the millet advantage! Unprecedented climate change can be resolved by including this 'food of the future' in regular diet.

Millet Network of India has urged the government to include millets in the National Food Security Act and incorporate it in the Public Distribution System.

MNI has said promoting cultivation of millets and converting cultivable fallow land into millet farms is a crucial step. This pest-free, climate change compliant crop is believed to possess the potential of reversing the damage done to nature.
